

07960 Pallid Swift (Apus pallidus)

Pallid Swift. Adult (01-VII).

PALLID SWIFT (Apus pallidus)

IDENTIFICATION

14-16 cm. Plumage brown-greyish; whitish throat; feathers on flanks with diffuse pale edges; secondaries lighter above than the rest of the wing; long and arched wings; forked tail.

Pallid Swift.
Pattern of throat, tail and flank.

SIMILAR SPECIES

Very similar to Common Swift, with smaller pale patch on throat, flanks with only a little pale streaked, darker plumage and more forked tail.

Common Swift.
Pattern of throat,
tail and flank.

Swift

SEXING

Plumage of both sexes alike.

AGEING

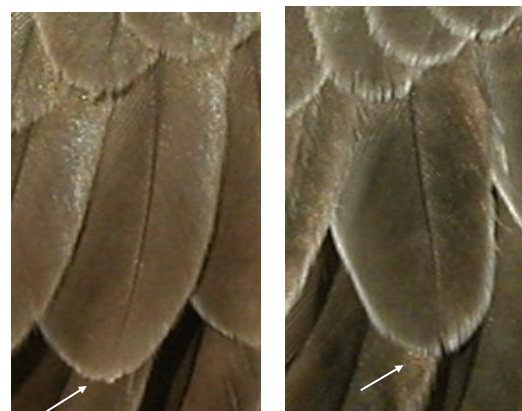

4 age groups can be recognized:

Juvenile with feathers on body, wing and tail edged white; outermost tail feather with both webs rounded and curved. CAUTION: in late summer some birds have lost much of their white edging by wear.

2nd year similar to adult, but recognizable by retained juvenile flight feathers and wing coverts, which will be very worn; outermost tail feather more rounded than in adults but less than in juveniles (CAUTION: this characteristic is not always useful due to overlap).

3rd year only in birds which have retained juvenile 10th primary, which is very strongly worn and reduced to the shaft.

Adult with plumage without white edges; flight feathers and wing coverts less worn than in 2nd year; if outer primaries retained, then brownish and worn contrasting with the neighbouring moulted feathers; outermost tail feather with both webs straight.

Pallid Swift. Ageing. Pattern of a wing covert: left adult (01-VII); right juvenile (01-VII).

Pallid Swift. Ageing. Pattern of the outermost tail feather: left adult (01-VII); right juvenile (01-VII).

Pallid Swift. Juvenile (01-VII).

MOULT

Complete postbreeding moult but some birds can retain 10th primary and, sometimes, two or three outermost primaries; usually started in wintering sites but some birds begin moulting in breeding areas. Partial postjuvenile moult involving body feathers, tail and only lesser wing coverts; always started in winter quarters.
